Architecturally unique and historically important, the Reddick Mansion anchors Washington Square in Ottawa, Illinois, the site of the first Lincoln-Douglas Debate.

After serving as the home for the William Reddick Family and as Ottawa's first public library, the Mansion has been restored back to its 19th century grandeur.

Make this pre-Civil War masterpiece the setting for your next special event!

The beautiful Gardens at the Reddick Mansion are the perfect spot for your outdoor event.

The pergola (shown above) is a lovely location for your wedding ceremony, a musical performance and more. The Gardens can accommodate between 100 and 150 guests.
